Annual JBMTI Research Forum Relational-Cultural Research: Translating Hope into Science

Thursday & Friday, June 22-23, 2006
Wang Campus Center, Room 415, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA

Call for Abstracts

The JBMTI Research Network is sponsoring its annual Research Forum beginning with a network dinner on Thursday, June 22, 2006, from 6:00 PM - 8:00 PM, followed by poster/discussion presentations on Friday, June 23, from 1:30-5:00 PM.

The theme of this year's Forum is: "Relational-Cultural Research: Translating Hope into Science." Organized around an innovative poster/discussion format, qualitative and/or quantitative findings based on Relational-Cultural Theory (RCT) will be selected for presentation. After the featured researchers present posters summarizing their studies, they will have an opportunity to gain additional feedback through a large group discussion with the members of the network.

This year, the JBMTI Research Network is highlighting the theme of "hope" by featuring studies that contribute to understanding how relationships facilitate growth through new possibilities. Abstracts containing preliminary findings or summaries of completed studies will be given the highest priority.

If you are interested in submitting a poster/discussion proposal for review, please submit a 500-word abstract via email to Linda Hartling at lhartling@wellesley.edu by Friday, March 24, 2006. You will be notified of the status of your review no later than May 15, 2006.

During the Forum, the JBMTI Research Network will be announcing the recipient of the Irene Stiver Dissertation Publication Award. This award includes a $250 check and a certificate of achievement.

If you would also like to apply for the Stiver Dissertation Award, please click here to see the submission criteria and instructions. Dissertation applications must be postmarked by Friday, March 24, 2006.
