Humiliation and the Roots of Violence:
Human Conflict in a Globalizing World

A lecture and discussion with Dr. Evelin Gerda Lindner, author of the new book:
*Making Enemies: Humiliation and International Conflict*

Date: November 14, 2006
Time: 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.
Location: Center for Applied Psychology
Rutgers, The State University
Piscataway, New Jersey
(directions to site provided upon registration)

**Evelin Gerda Lindner**, M.D., Ph.D. (Dr. med.), Ph.D. (Dr. psychol.) is a cross-cultural social psychologist and physician and the Founding Manager of the international Human Dignity and Humiliation Studies Network anchored at the Columbia University Conflict Resolution Network, among others. Dr. Lindner also serves as Senior Lecturer at the Norwegian University of Science and Technology (NTNU), Department of Psychology, and is affiliated with the University of Oslo, Department of Psychology, and the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme, Paris.

In 1996, she designed a research project on the nature of humiliation and how it is related to the occurrence of genocide and mass violence. She believes that by eliminating harmful cycles of humiliation, a space is opened for mutual respect and esteem to take root and grow, thereby leading to the resolution of previously intractable conflicts.

*“Both global sustainability of social cohesion and ecological survival require a mindset of connection and a spirit of shared humility - and not a mindset of humiliation.” --
Evelin Lindner*
