

Advancing Human Dignity Via the olpc Project

Uli Spalthoff

HumanDHS April 2010 Istanbul Conference

Preliminary Remark

- This is an idea, not yet elaborated
- It may evolve into a project
- Based on your ideas and collaboration

Overview

- Introduction
- The olpc Project
- Human Dignity as olpc Project
  - Why?
  - What?
  - Who?
  - How?

Overview

Video

olpc - One Laptop Per Child

- Initiated in 2005 by MIT's Nicholas Negroponte
- Designed the rugged and cheap XO-1 laptop and learning software for children
- Now in use by ~1.5mio children in developing nations

XO-1 laptop

What?

- Concepts of Human Rights and Dignity
- Daily life ethics
- Local situation, culture and history
- View of other cultures
- ..... (your ideas go here)

Why?

- Include Human Dignity into curriculum
- Leverage children's activity and interactivity
- Reach a global community

How?

- Write stories
- Create cartoons
- Develop an interactive computer game
- Create a quiz game
- ..... (your ideas go here)

How?

- Decentralized activities
- Heavily based on partnerships
- ... (our effort and dedication will make the difference)

Who?

- HumanDHS friends
- Local partners
- Support communities
- Open-source enthusiasts
- NGOs

Summary

- An educational project on Human Dignity is suggested
- The olpc project opens a way to reach children throughout the world
- Let's share our vision of Human Dignity with them
- We can achieve this based on our network of friends, together with partners